

EMAIL QUESTIONS

Question 1

I would prefer modifying Xsystem api to retrieve the new users data since at a user experience perspective users dont like to enter data.

Question 2

I would prefer copying data to a separate server rather than using the production server since an error might occur in the production server during testing hence creating bugs and interference to the system's active users .